Dear

Many thanks for your congratulatory letter of 12 March. It reached me in Washington after I had reported for duty on 15 March and, as you might well expect, I have been heavily engaged ever since.

I suppose I should know by now, but I am not sure just how we in the Agency go about acquiring assistance from the military. However, I will have my people look into the possibility of getting you on our payroll or at least somehow giving us a hand because I would be delighted to have you on my team.

With my thanks again for writing as you did and with warm personal regards,

Faithfully yours,
